OBSERVATION NOTES

Program Evaluation/ Student Satisfaction

- Students expressed a variety of positive comments regarding faculty and the advising provided by faculty.
- In terms of adjuncts, students recommended improving experiences and courses with adjunct instructors. Adjuncts may be recommended to connect with a current course instructor or prior course instructor to help with hand off. Instructors should also connect with adjuncts to provide observation and additional feedback and insight into teaching and instruction. Inconsistencies between adjuncts and faculty may cause issues regarding course instruction or the program.
- It was noted that students struggle more in the summer months. Zoom/in-person attendance improves course outcomes for students.
- Faculty and instructors have noted the importance of continuity in meeting students where they are at, particularly non-traditional students. Students confirmed benefits of semester progress review meetings with advisors.
- There was a drastic increase in the number of students and graduates who would recommend the Graduate Counseling Program.

Professional Disposition (Faculty & Staff)

- Semester 3 has been noted as the most difficult by students; students tend to rate themselves highly during Semester 1, decrease their ratings in Semester 3, and then flip their scores to higher during the following semesters. This may be due to an increase in self-awareness.

Student Site Evaluation – Practicum

- Ratings were overall good. Students expressed difficulty with obtaining direct hours but were able to manage this through consultation with their supervisor.

Student Site Evaluation – Internship

- Ratings were excellent overall. We will continue confirmation of supervisor understanding or need for clarification, particularly new supervisors.

Site Supervisor Feedback

- At times, the evaluations were noted as redundant. A school counseling specific evaluation has been suggested.

Demographic Info Applied (Applicants and Enrolled)

- The ACCESS Grant increased application diversity, but due to a limited number of seats for the cohort, it was impossible for all applicants to be accepted or enroll. Data shows an increase in the number of Catholic students, more females than males, and other diverse backgrounds. Marketing in this area has increased, helping increase applicant numbers.

ACTION ITEMS

Program Evaluation/Student Satisfaction

- Students enjoyed CMH courses as summer and fall concentration specific. Students suggest offering Practicum as a section that can be enrolled for in-person versus online only.
- Faculty and instructors recommend students receive counseling during their time in the program. Support plans are helpful and effective. This allows for appropriate gatekeeping practices while also being supportive and flexible.
- Assessments course needs to be updated (note: completed summer 2023).
- The Research course will need to be discussed with students to help prepare them for the rigor and improve their experiences.
- The coursework may need to be adjusted to reduce or re-work assignments and tasks. For Practicum, consider offering 1-2 sections in-person.
- Advisors to confirm during semester progress review that students have created specific action steps and plans. We plan to update the Adjunct Faculty Handbook and create an online learning platform for Adjuncts that have FAQ's as well as a semester Zoom for comradery and efficiency. Additional supervision and mentorship for adjuncts is suggested.

Professional Disposition (Faculty & Staff)

- Advisors should communicate students are rating their entire journey, not only the semester. Students and faculty suggest creating a semester-by-semester Canvas (online learning module) pages or files so students can readily access information. This would be an interactive handbook with a proposed timeline for course, task, practicum and internship completions.

Student Site Evaluation – Practicum

- Students requested clarification for practicum procedures, supervision, and involvement. Students recommended using a journal as a reflective practice during practicum experience.
